Against Health was a concept, and a conference, before it was a book. The editors express tremendous gratitude to the many people whose dedication, skill, generosity, and foresight enabled this transformation. From the beginning, Carol Boyd and David Halperin envisioned and supported the Against Health conference, which took place in October 2006 at the University of Michigan. Colleagues including Wendy Bostwick, Anne Esacove, Sasha Feirstein, Sean McCabe, Michele Morales, Justin Schmant, Lisa Kane Low, and Michelle McClellan served on the conference planning committee. In addition to the authors in this volume, Paul Campos, John Carson, Kenneth Warner, Susan Kippax, Paula Allen-Mears, Joycelyn Elders, Roddey Reid, Rebecca Herzig, Libby Bogdan-Lovis, Ray De Vries, Petra Kuppers, Magdalena Harris, Bernice Hausman, Michele Morales, Moya Bailey, Nicholas King, Brad Lewis, Lisa Kane Low, Susan Love, Elizabeth Roberts, and Kane Race contributed to the conference conversation in brilliant and challenging ways. Sacha Feirstein and Terri Torkko coordinated the whole event through the offices of the University of Michigan's Institute for Research on Women and Gender. At NYU Press, editor Ilene Kalish, and editorial assistant Aiden Amos, served as amazing advocates. And, perhaps most important, our remarkable and extraordinary graduate student assistant, Burke Hilsabeck, pulled the chapters into final coherence and, ultimately, pulled us through. Thank you all.
