

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

We would like to thank our partners and our families for their patience and love. Without them, this book might have been written, but it would have lacked a soul. We are also indebted to our coauthors Michelle Rone, Tara Proano, Priya Batra, and Kelly White for their long hours of research and their collaboration through the equally long process of writing and editing. We are grateful to our respective institutions, DePaul University and Wright State University, for generous support during the completion of this project. Finally, we are thankful to our editor, Jennifer Hammer, whose encouragement inspired us along the way to completion.