

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

We must begin by thanking the contributors to this volume for their intellectual engagement, their professionalism, and their good humor. Their conversations at the workshop that initiated this project in October 2013 took us in some unanticipated directions and strengthened both the collection as a whole and the individual essays. We also thank Clara Platter for her early embrace of this work. Her encouragement, which included attending the initial workshop and the offer of an advance contract, made our job as editors much easier. Clara and Constance Grady made NYU Press a pleasure to work with. We also thank faculty at the Army War College, particularly Tami Davis Biddle and her colleagues in the Department of National Security and Strategy, for helping to jump-start the project. Ironically, many of those faculty members could not attend the October conference because of the sequester. Gregory Daddis, from the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, and Katherine Epstein, from Rutgers, Camden, did attend, chairing sessions and offering insightful commentary. Carly Goodman, the Thomas Davis Fellow at Temple University's Center for the Study of Force, proved vital to the organization of the conference. She also prepared the volume's chronology. Carly's successor as the Thomas Davis Fellow, Silke Zoller, painstakingly assembled the terms and list of terms.

We also want to express our appreciation to Managing Editor Dorothea Halliday, Angelo Repousis, who prepared the index, and our copy editor, Joseph Dahm. Finally, we greatly appreciate the financial support of the Hertog Foundation and the Center for the Study of Force and Diplomacy at Temple University.

As is always the case, our friends and families offer support in countless different ways. We thank them all.

This page intentionally left blank