

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Contributors	xi
1 Introduction to Refugee Resettlement in the United States: Language, Policies, Pedagogies Emily M. Feuerherm and Vaidehi Ramanathan	1
Part 1: Defining Refugees through Policy and Practice
2 Positionings of Refugees, Aliens and Immigrants in the Media Ariel Loring	21
3 The Different Meanings of the Word Refugee Bernadette Ludwig	35
4 Restraining English Instruction for Refugee Adults in the United States Diana M.J. Camps	54
Part 2: Resettlement Practices and Effects on Education
5 Building a Participatory Program for Iraqi Refugee Women and Families: Negotiating Policies and Pedagogies Emily M. Feuerherm	75
6 Learning English, Speaking Hindi: The Paradox of (Language) Integration Among Nepalis in the United States Tina Shrestha	96

7	A 'Slippery Slope' Toward 'Too Much Support'? Ethical Quandaries Among College Faculty/Staff Working with Refugee-Background Students Shawna Shapiro	118
8	'Talk English!' Refugee Youth and Policy Shaping in Restrictive Language Contexts Daisy E. Fredricks and Doris Warriner	135
9	The US Refugee Resettlement Process: A Path to Self-Sufficiency or Marginalization? Nora Tyeklar	152
10	Language as a Fund of Knowledge: The Case of Mama Rita and Implications for Refugee Policy Cassie D. Leymarie	172
	Index	191