

Acknowledgments

This volume was largely borne out of a graduate course – A&HL 5008 Interlanguage Analysis – which I taught at Teachers College, Columbia University. Authors of the main chapters were among the students attending the class. The work showcased in these chapters was first presented at a colloquium of the 2015 annual conference of the American Association of Applied Linguistics and subsequently at a colloquium of the 2016 Second Language Research Forum. Authors benefited greatly from the feedback received at these venues.

This volume would not have materialized without the generous assistance of a number of reviewers, among them Monika Ekiert, Hoa Nguyen, Eun Young Kang, Sarah Sok, Kaylee Fernandez, Moira Hamilton and the anonymous reviewers assigned by the publisher. The support from the publisher throughout – from the inception of the project through to production – has been instrumental.

Last but not least, the four participants in the transpacific intercultural communication project deserve immense recognition. Without the two longitudinal datasets they contributed, this volume would not have been at all possible.
