

Notes on Romanisation

The Revised Romanisation system has been used throughout the text. Korean names have been Romanised in a surname (space) first name format, where a two syllable first name may have a hyphen between the two syllables.

Where interviews have been conducted in Korean, I have provided the original hangul and English translation. While the Romanisations of in-text Korean terms have been provided, Romanisations of long interview transcripts will not be provided, as I believe that they will be of little use to non-Korean speaking readers.
