Contents

	Figures	ix
	Tables	xi
	Acknowledgements	xiii
	Abbreviations	xv
1	A Thoroughly Modern Medium	1
	1.1 Aims of the Book	2
	1.2 Focus on Computer-Mediated Communication	2
	1.3 Defining the Object of Study	3
	1.4 Research Gap and Contributions to Knowledge	5
	1.5 Partnership with Cambridge University Press	6
	1.6 Research Questions and Research Design	6
	1.7 Structure of the Book	7
2	Situating the Research	9
	2.1 Informal Second Language Learning	9
	2.2 L2 English Computer-Mediated Communication	18
	2.3 Complexity in Language Learning	28
	2.4 Activity Theory	30
	2.5 Conclusion	33
3	Research Methods	35
	3.1 Research Questions	36
	3.2 RQ1 and RQ2: A Survey-Based Approach	37
	3.3 Questionnaire Design	38
	3.4 Piloting and Modifications	40
	3.5 Data Collection and Processing	40
	3.6 Initial Description of the Data	41
4	EL2 CMC Activities and Communicative (Dis)Comfort	47
	4.1 Language Activities and Language Functions	47
	4.2 Functional Approaches to Language	48
	4.3 Outlining a Functionally Motivated Language Activity	49
	4.4 Affective Barriers to Language Acquisition	51
	4.5 Constructing the Questionnaire	51

4.6 Comfort with L2 Use Online 54
4.7 Conclusion 64

5 Contexts and Attitudes 65
5.1 Classifying CMC 66
5.2 Constructing the Questionnaire 69
5.3 Surveying Socio-Technical Configurations of EL2 CMC Usage 74
5.4 EL2 CMC and Language Learning: Beliefs and Attitudes 82
5.5 EL2 CMC, Informal Learning and the Language Classroom 88

6 Difficulties Encountered in EL2 CMC Interactions 90
6.1 Survival of the Fittest 90
6.2 Systemic Contradictions 91
6.3 Methodology: Constructing this Section of the Questionnaire 91
6.4 Difficulties of EL2 CMC Reported by L2 English Users 93
6.5 Quantitative Analysis 106
6.6 Summary: Difficulties Encountered in EL2 CMC 114

7 Language Online: A Corpus Study 116
7.1 Computer-Mediated Discourse Analysis 117
7.2 Digital Conversation: Speech, Writing or Something Else? 117
7.3 Corpus Analysis 122
7.4 Idiosyncratic Use of Common Language Items: Analyzing CANELC 127
7.5 Non-Standard Typography 128
7.6 Keywords in CANELC 128
7.7 Typographic Variation 145
7.8 Filling in the Gaps: Instant Messaging 153
7.9 Relating Speech, Writing and CMC 154
7.10 Conclusion 157

8 Towards an Integration of EL2 CMC and Formal Instruction 159
8.1 Why Integrate? 160
8.2 Goals 161
8.3 Linked Activity Systems: The Case of Almon 162
8.4 Incidental Learning and Multiple Motives 167
8.5 A Macro-Functional Needs Analysis 170
8.6 A Language Awareness Approach 175
8.7 Proposed Classroom Methodology: Show and Tell 179
8.8 Almon Revisited 185
8.9 Conclusion 186

9 Conclusion 188
9.1 Research Questions Revisited 188
9.2 Contributions 191
9.3 Limitations 192
9.4 Future Research Directions 193
9.5 Closing Remarks 194

References 196
Appendix A: Questionnaire 207
Appendix B: Codebook from Qualitative Analysis 215
Index 221