

Acknowledgements

Many of the ideas in this book are based on the experiences, insights, and creative endeavours of the many teachers with whom I have worked over the last 25 years. Thank you for allowing me into your classrooms and sharing your ideas with me. I hope I have represented you well in this book.

I would also like to thank the teachers I have met as students in the courses I have taught at the University of Toronto. Our discussions on policy and practice in multilingual and multicultural education have helped me to develop my ideas.

In addition, the helpful staff at the F.W. Minkler Professional Library at the Toronto District School Board have provided invaluable assistance. Thank you.

I wish to thank my friends and colleagues who contributed their time and thoughtful advice as readers of various drafts of this material: Tara Goldstein, Marjatta Holt, Susanne Holunga, Irene McKay, Stephanie Paulauskas, Joan Speares, Chau Tran, and Debbie Zakus.

Many thanks to editors Colin Baker and Nancy Hornberger, who provided expert advice and assistance as they read earlier drafts, and gave me ongoing support over the two years it took to shape the manuscript for publication.

The photographs in this book, unless otherwise credited, were taken by Al Weinberg of Special Events and Media Production Services at the Toronto District School Board. The photographs were taken in two Toronto District schools: R.J. Lang Elementary and Middle School, and Sir Sandford Fleming Secondary School. Thanks to the staff and students at both schools, and to the Toronto District School Board for permission to use the photographs in this book.

Finally, I wish to thank the many students from many different linguistic and cultural backgrounds whom I have taught at schools in England, Bulgaria, and Canada. I have learned so much from all of you.
