

Contents

Contributors	vii
Foreword: From Restrictive SEI to Imagining Better	xiii
Terrence Wiley
Introduction	xxiii
Part 1: Language Policy in Arizona
1 Language Policy and Teacher Preparation: The Implications of a Restrictive Language Policy on Teacher Preparation	3
M. Beatriz Arias
2 Research-based Reform in Arizona: Whose Evidence Counts for Applying the Castañeda Test to Structured English Immersion Models?	21
Christian Faltis and M. Beatriz Arias
3 SLA Research and Arizona’s Structured English Immersion Policies	39
Michael H. Long and H.D. Adamson
Part 2: Implementing SEI in Arizona
4 Everything on Its Head: How Arizona’s Structured English Immersion Policy Re-invents Theory and Practice	59
Mary Carol Combs
5 Teachers’ Sheltered English Immersion Views and Practices	86
Wayne E. Wright and Koyin Sung

- 6 Review of ‘Research Summary and Bibliography for Structured English Immersion Programs’ of the Arizona
English Language Learners Task Force 107
Stephen Krashen, Jeff MacSwan and Kellie Rolstad

Part 3: Arizona Teacher Preparation for SEI

- 7 ‘They’re Just Confused’: SEI as Policy into Practice 121
Sarah Catherine K. Moore
- 8 Implementing Structured English Immersion in Teacher
Preparation in Arizona 142
Nancy J. Murri, Amy Markos and Alexandria Estrella-Silva
- 9 The Politics of Preservice Teachers 164
Kate Olson