

Contents

Tables and Figures	vii
Acknowledgements	ix
1 Introduction	1
Online Social Interaction, Language Use, and Language Learning	1
The ‘Language of CMC’	2
L1 Perspectives	8
Language Learning Opportunities in Instructed L2 CMC	12
Intercultural and L2 Uses of CMC in Social Settings	14
A Social Realist Approach	16
Methodology	23
Book Outline	36
2 Learner Backgrounds and Online L2 Networks	37
The Learners’ Linguistic Backgrounds	38
The Learners’ Technological Backgrounds	40
The Learners’ Online Contacts	54
CMC Networks and Relationships	58
Initiating CMC in an L2	62
Discussion	69
3 Social Settings of Situated CMC Use	71
Management of Communication	71
Management of Identity	74
Maintenance of Interest	77
Non-use, Lapsing, and Lurking	79
CMC and Broader Communication	84
Linguistic Domains and Virtual L2 Community	96
Discussion	104

4	Features of CMC Use	106
	Organisation of Online Conversations	106
	Language Choice	112
	Code and Orthographic Switching	126
	‘Synchronicity’ and Genre of Language Use	138
	Case Studies of Two Learners’ Longitudinal Patterns of CMC	141
	Discussion	153
5	Use of Contextual Resources and SLA Opportunities	158
	Widening Opportunities for Language Use	158
	Gaining an Audience and Challenges	159
	Dictionaries and Other Resources	166
	Opportunities for Planning and Revision	178
	Repair and Corrective Feedback in CMC	180
	Discussion	203
6	Conclusion	205
	Online Interaction with Native Speakers: Implications	205
	Participating in Domains and Virtual Communities	206
	Entering CMC Networks and Maintaining Relationships	207
	Code/Orthographic-switching and Turn-taking	210
	Acquisition Opportunities in CMC	212
	A Relational View of L2 CMC Use	214
	Theoretical and Methodological Implications	215
	References	217
	Index	234