Researching and writing a book such as this requires time and money, and I have enjoyed the good fortune of having both. An Insight Grant from the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada allowed me to undertake research in Spain and the United Kingdom as well as hire research assistants there and in Portugal and Argentina. A Killam Research Fellowship from the Canada Council for the Arts gave me the luxury of two years during which I could devote myself to writing full time.

Historians also need sources, and I have been extremely fortunate here as well. The late Pablo Montesino-Espartero y Juliá, fifth Duque de la Victoria, and the current Duke, his son Pablo Montesino-Espartero y Velasco, have been models of generosity. They gave me full access to the private papers of Baldomero Espartero and full freedom in using them. This book could not have been written without them.

I am grateful to the many institutions that gave me the opportunity to present earlier versions of my ideas and receive invaluable comments and suggestions: the Department of Contemporary History and the History of America at the University of Santiago de Compostela, the Department of Contemporary History at the University of Valencia, the Department of Contemporary History at the University of the Basque Country, the Department of Modern and Contemporary History at the Autonomous University of Barcelona, the Department of Contemporary Humanities at the University of Alicante, the Contemporary History Seminar at the Ortega y Gasset University Institute, the Department of History at Trent University, the Department of History at Tel Aviv University, the Re-imaging Democracy in the Nineteenth Century Mediterranean project at Oxford University, the Centre for the History of Ibero-America at Leeds University, the Leeds Library, and the Empires, Nations and Sovereignty Research Group at the Pompeu Fabra University.

Finally, I want to thank the many friends and colleagues whose help and encouragement over many years has enriched this book: Myles Ali, Mikel Alberi Sagardia, Gregorio Alonso, Teresa Álvarez González, José Álvarez Junco, Daniel Aquillué Domínguez, Xavier Andreu Miralles, Raúl Martín Arranz, Lurdes Azpiazú Aizpiólea, Edward Baker, Isabel Burdiel, Mónica Burguera, Antonio Cazorla-Sánchez, María Cifuentes, Boyd Cothran, Chris Cunningham, Josep Fradera, Gregorio de la Fuente Monge, Albert García Balañá, Irene González González, Tony Graham, Arthur Haberman, Abril Liberatore, Marcel Martel, Jani Mauricio, Bàrbara Molas Gregorio, Asís Montesino-Espartero, Javier Moreno Luzón, Xosé Manoel Núñez Seixas, Juan Pro Ruiz, Oriol Regué Sendrós, Jordi Roca Vernet, Oscar Rodríguez Barreira, Mari Cruz Romeo Mateo, Manuel Santirso Rodríguez, Vicent Sanz, and Miguel Torrens.
