

Acknowledgments

Andy: I thank David Lazris, whose hard work compiling data about and incorporating into our book the racial ramifications of the Flexner Report led to chapter 25, which he took charge of writing.

To all those who helped us to compile data and to our patients, who are our lifeblood.

Thank you to Brenda Copeland, who helped us in our initial editing of the manuscript and in paring down our very long initial draft into something cogent and readable, and to Alan, who throughout this long project kept me sane.

Alan: With extreme gratitude to those who have meant the most to me in life.

To Bruce Flanz and Mounir Doss for always being there for me through the good and bad years at Jamaica Hospital. To my Jamaica friends and colleagues, Bill, Sabiha, Gino, Fred, James, Gina, Robert, Sally, Cameron, Zharia, and Shania, thank you all.

To the Kew Gardens team and Lauren, who keeps me going daily in the pursuit of the health of our patients.

To the mentors in my career who have guided me and helped me become the clinician, teacher, and person I have become: Ed Bope, Larry Bauer, Dave Weissman, Michal Fine, and Wayne Jonas, who truly taught me about what matters most in life.

And of course, to my loving family, who have always been there for me, for giving me the love and guidance to pursue my lifelong dreams: Nelly, Jonathon, Elona, Noah, Jude, Nate, Eva, Allison, Jim, and my grandchildren Shiloh and Liam. A special shout out to my brothers Steven and Mitchell for sticking with me in the good and bad times, with additional kudos to Mitch for all he has done for us in making this book a reality.

Last, to my friend and writing partner Andy, without your support and collaboration, the success of this book would not be a reality; thank you, my friend!!
