

Contents

PREFACE /vii/

INTRODUCTION /xi/

- 1 The Zurich Magistracy and the Local Church
before the Reformation /3/
- 2 The Influence of Mediaeval and Humanist
Traditions upon Zwingli's View of Society /17/
- 3 Zwingli's Thought and Work 1510–1520
and the Council's Mandate /30/
- 4 The Rejection of the French Alliance and the Prohibition of Mercenary Service /50/
- 5 The First Outbreaks of "Radicalism" /58/
- 6 The Council's Policy, the Bishop's
Commission and Zwingli's Sermon /70/
- 7 Further Opposition: the Campaign of the Church,
the Pro-Mercenary Party, the Radicals /88/
- 8 Zwingli's Position: Late Spring and Summer, 1522 /103/
- 9 Zwingli's Position: Fall, 1522 /127/
- 10 The Results of the First Disputation /139/
- 11 The Open Split between Zwingli and the Radicals: August 1523 to December 1523 /176/
- 12 Developments at Zurich Subsequent to 1523 /209/
- 13 Conclusion /219/

BIBLIOGRAPHY /227/

INDEX /233/