

Contributors

Angela Chan is a senior research fellow at the City University of Hong Kong. She has published on leadership discourse, identity construction, humour and politeness in the Journal of Pragmatics, Journal of Politeness Research and Journal of Asia Pacific Communication.

Anna Yukyee Chan is a research social scientist in the Center for Survey Measurement at the US Census Bureau. Her publications include Complex Ethnic Households in America (edited with L. Schwede and R. Blumberg, 2006); book chapters in American Families: Issues in Race and Ethnicity (edited by C. K. Jacobson, 1995); Resiliency in Ethnic Minority Families (edited by H. I. McCubbin et al., 1995); and articles in the Journal of Field Methods and Sociological Imagination.

Wei-Lin Melody Chang is a doctoral student in the School of Languages and Linguistics at Griffith University. She has published papers in the Journal of Pragmatics and Intercultural Pragmatics.

Xinren Chen is Professor of English and Linguistics at Nanjing University, China. His major publications include The Pragmatics of Interactional Overinformativeness in Conversation (2004), Contemporary Pragmatics (with Ziran He, 2004), Foreign Language Education and National Identity in the Context of Globalization (2008) and A New Coursebook in Pragmatics (2009).

Winnie Cheng is Professor of English and Director of the Research Centre for Professional Communication in English at the Hong Kong Polytechnic University. Her books include Exploring Corpus Linguistics: Language in Action (2011) and A Corpus-Driven Study of Discourse Intonation (2008).

Tomoko Endo is a postdoctoral research fellow at the Japan Society for the Promotion of Science, affiliated with the Department of Linguistics in Kyoto University. Her publications include book chapters in Studies of Chinese Linguistics: Functional Approaches (edited by Janet Xing, 2009) and Construction and Meaning (in Japanese, edited by Harumi Sawada, forthcoming).

Yueguo Gu is a Research Professor and Head of the Contemporary Linguistics Department in the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences. He has authored and edited several series of textbooks on linguistics, pragmatics, discourse analysis, rhetoric, ELT methodology, action research, cross-cultural communication and teaching English to Chinese learners. He is a co-chief editor of the Journal of Contemporary Linguistics and on the advisory editorial boards of ten international journals.

Michael Haugh is a senior lecturer in Linguistics and International English at Griffith University. His books include Situated Politeness (edited with Bethan Davies and Andrew John Merrison, 2011) and Face, Communication and Social Interaction (edited with Francesca Bargiela-Chiappini, 2009).

Agnes Weiyun He is Associate Professor of Applied Linguistics and Asian Studies at Stony Brook University. A 2011 Guggenheim Fellow, she has authored Reconstructing Institutions through Talk (1998) and served as co-editor of Talking and Testing (1998) and primary editor of Chinese as a Heritage Language (2008).

Dániel Z. Kádár is Research Professor of English Language and Linguistics at the University of Huddersfield. His recent books include Politeness in East Asia (ed. with Sara Mills, 2011), Politeness in Historical and Contemporary Chinese (with Yuling Pan, 2011), Politeness in China and Japan (with Michael Haugh, John Benjamins, forthcoming), and Politeness and Rituality (Palgrave Macmillan, forthcoming).

Kenneth Kong is Associate Professor of Linguistics in the English Department of Hong Kong Baptist University. He has published extensively in the areas of discourse analysis, multi-modal communication and intercultural communication. He is currently working on two book projects, one on professional discourse and the other on the history of professions in China and the West and their influence on personal identities.

Cher Leng Lee is Deputy Head and Associate Professor in the Department of Chinese Studies, National University of Singapore. Her works include 'Compliments and responses during Chinese new year celebrations in Singapore' Pragmatics (2009) and 'Motivations of code-switching in Singapore Mandarin' Journal of Chinese Linguistics (2003).

Yuling Pan is Principal Researcher and Senior Sociolinguist at the US Census Bureau. Her books include Politeness in Chinese Face-to-Face Interaction (2000), Professional Communication in International Settings (with Suzanne Scollon and Ron Scollon, 2002), and Politeness in Historical and Contemporary China (with Dániel Kádár, 2011).

Stephanie Schnurr is Associate Professor at the Centre for Applied Linguistics at the University of Warwick. She has published widely on leadership discourse, (im)politeness, gender, and humour at work. Her most recent book-length publication is Leadership Discourse at Work: Interactions of Humour, Gender and Workplace Culture (2009).

Hao Sun is Associate Professor of Linguistics in the English and Linguistics Department at Indiana-Purdue University. Her publications include It's the Dragon's Turn: Chinese Institutional Discourses (co-edited with Daniel Z. Kádár, 2008) as well as several articles published in journals including Language in Society, Journal of Pragmatics, Pragmatics, Pragmatics and Language Learning, Reflections on English Language Teaching and Journal of the Chinese Language Teachers Association.

Virginia Wake Yelei is a researcher at Georgetown University Medical Centre. Her publications have appeared in the journal Survey Practice and in Pragmatics of Chinese as Native and Target Language (1995) edited by Gabriele Kasper.

Olga Zayts is Research Assistant Professor at the School of Humanities, and the Leader of Health Communication Research Cluster, the University of Hong Kong. Her publications have appeared in Research on Language and Social Interaction, Journal of Politeness Research and Sociology of Health and Illness among many others. She has co-edited (with M.A. Kang) Medical Communication in the Asia Context, a special issue of the Journal of Asian Pacific Communication.

Wei Zhang is Assistant Professor at the City University of Hong Kong. She has published on repair, turn continuation, conversational code-switching and patient participation in genetic counselling in journals such as Chinese Language and Discourse, Pragmatics, Journal of Pragmatics and Journal of Asia Pacific Communication.

