

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
List of Figures	ix
List of Tables	xi
1 Preliminaries: Hybridity & Systemic Functional Linguistics Donna R. Miller and Paul Bayley	1
Part I Grammatical Hybridity	19
2 On the (non)necessity of the hybrid category behavioural process David Banks	21
3 Hybridity in TRANSITIVITY: Phraseological and metaphorically derived processes in the system network for TRANSITIVITY Gordon Tucker	41
4 Hybridity and process types Jorge Ariús Hita	64
Part II Hybridity: Implications for pedagogy and professional practice	83
5 Re-orienting semantic dispositions: The role of hybrid forms of language use in university learning Caroline Coffin	85
6 Teaching through English: Maximal input in meaning making John Polias and Gail Forey	109
7 The multilayeredness of hybridity in the written stylistic analysis argument Anne Isaac	133
8 Activity types, discourse types and role types: Interactional hybridity in professional-client encounters Srikant Sarangi	154

Part III Registerial – and/or generic – hybridity	179
9 Hybridisation: How language users graft new discourses on old root stock Geoff Thompson	181
10 Registerial hybridity: Indeterminacy among fields of activity Christian M.I.M. Matthiessen and Kazuhiro Teruya	205
11 Woolf's lecture/novel/essay A Room of One's Own Carol Taylor Torsello	240
12 Genre and register hybridisation in an historical text Michael Cummings	268
13 Hybrid contexts and lexicogrammatical choices: Interpersonal uses of language in peer review reports in linguistics and mathematics Akila Sellami-Baklouti	286
14 The permeable context of institutional and newspaper discourse: A corpus-based functional case study of the European sovereign debt crisis Sabrina Fusari	306
Part IV A closing statement: Hybridity – or permeability?	335
15 In the nature of language: Reflections on permeability and hybridity Ruqaiya Hasan	337
Index	384