

Contents

Foreword	vii
Christian M.I.M. Matthiessen

About the editors	xiii
-------------------	------

Introduction	1
Gordon Tucker, Guowen Huang, Lise Fontaine, Edward McDonald

Section 1: 'Divergence'

1. Finding complementarity in the approaches of M. A. K. Halliday and Robin Fawcett	17
Jonathan J. Webster
2. Relating form and meaning: A comparison of the Cardiff Grammar with other functional and/or cognitive/constructionist approaches	38
Christopher S. Butler
3. On the abstractness of levels of description in Systemic Functional Linguistics	57
Michael O'Donnell
4. Embedding in the Cardiff Grammar: A comparative study	76
Zhang Delu
5. 'United but not the same': Exploring ways of talking across divergence within SFL	96
Edward McDonald

Section 2: 'Convergence'

6. From form to meaning in the Cardiff model of language and its use: A functional-syntactic analysis of 'He has been talking about going to the Grand Canyon with Margaret for many years'	117
Guowen Huang

7. On the meaning-form interface of the Cardiff Grammar Victor M. Castel	135
8. Lexical representation in the Cardiff Grammar: An appraisal Gordon Tucker	157
9. Referring and the Nominal Group: A closer look at the selector element Lise Fontaine and David Schönthal	174

Section 3: ‘Description’

10. Quantifying things: The ‘quantifying modifier’ and its raising construction in Japanese Hiroshi Funamoto	193
11. Intonation in semantic system networks Paul Tench	215
12. On choosing the Subject Theme Margaret Berry	235
13. Negation in Japanese: A new treatment of nai as a process type in the Japanese transitivity network – A Kyoto Grammar approach Masa-aki Tatsuki	252
14. An alternative model of the transitivity system of Chinese He Wei	269
15. The ideational semantics of the canonical existential clause in English Kristin Davidse	293

Section 4: ‘Towards Consilience’

16. ‘Models – predictions – data: An (un)problematic relationship?’ Erich Steiner	315
Index	337