

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Introduction

1. "Enlightened Despotism and Islam Under Catherine II, " Slavic Review , XXVII/4, 1968, pp. 542-553.	13
2. "Muscovy and the Black Sea Slave Trade, " Canadian -American Slavic Studies , VI/4, 1972, pp. 575-594.	27
3. "Muscovite-Ottoman Relations in the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Centuries," Humaniora Islamica , I, 1973, pp. 207-217.	47
4. "Azov in the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Centuries," Jahrbücher für Geschichte Osteuropas , XXI/2, 1973, pp. 161-174.	59
5. "The Sale of Slaves in the Ottoman Empire: Markets and State Taxes on Slave Sales. Some Preliminary Considerations, " Boğaziçi Üniversitesi Dergisi [Beşeri Bilimler] , VI, 1978, pp. 149-173. ...	77
6. "Chattel Slavery in the Ottoman Empire," Slavery & Abolition , I/1, 1980, pp. 25-45.	105
7. "Studies in Ottoman Slavery and Slave Trade, II: Manumission," Journal of Turkish Studies , IV, 1980, pp. 49-56.	129
8. "Ottoman Kamanets-Podolsk," in Pierre Oberling (ed), Turks, Hungarians and Kipchaks: A Festschrift in Honor of Tibor Halasi-Kun , Journal of Turkish Studies , VII, 1984, pp. 55-83	139
9. "Emigration of Muslims from the Russian Empire in the Years after the Crimean War," Jahrbücher für Geschichte Osteuropas , XXXV/3, 1987, pp. 356-371.	171