
Illustrations

| | |
|---|-----|
| 1. Article 51 of the Treaty of Tianjin | 32 |
| 2. Morrison's 1815 translation of the character yi | 41 |
| 3. W. B. Wallen, "The Queen Receiving the Burmese Embassy" (1872) | 56 |
| 4. "Exhibition of the English in China," from Punch , 1844 | 64 |
| 5. Lord Elgin and the Emperor of China, from Punch , 1860 | 65 |
| 6. The title page of the Chinese translation of Henry Wheaton's Elements of International Law (1864) | 115 |
| 7. The world map printed in the first Chinese edition of Elements of International Law (1864) | 126 |
| 8. Thomas Jones Barker, The Secret of England's Greatness (ca. 1863) | 147 |
| 9. The Empress Dowager Cixi posing as Avalokiteśvara (Guanyin) (ca. 1903) | 163 |
| 10. The front cover of the 1911 edition of the Presentation New Testament in Chinese | 166 |
| 11. The text of the 1911 edition of the Presentation New Testament | 167 |
| 12. Woodblock print with fake Chinese characters, from the art installation The Book from the Sky (1988) by Xu Bing | 208 |
| 13. The alleged throne of the Qianlong emperor in the Victoria and Albert Museum | 214 |

| | |
|---|-----|
| 14. General Yuan Shikai's new throne chair (1915) | 219 |
| 15. The 1901 Japanese photograph of the Qing emperor's throne chair in the Hall of Supreme Harmony | 220 |
| 16. An officer of the Allied Forces on the throne chair of the Qianqing audience hall (1901) | 222 |
| 17. The coronation of Pu Yi as the last emperor of the Qing dynasty in Bertolucci's The Last Emperor | 224 |
| 18. A Japanese military photographer documenting Pu Yi's recoronation in Manchuria, from Bertolucci's The Last Emperor | 227 |