

Contents

Acknowledgments ix

Introduction 1

“The Base for All Economics” 5

Plan of the Book 12

1 Voyaging Out 23

Botanistes Voyageurs 25

Maria Sibylla Merian 30

Biopirates 35

Who Owns Nature? 44

Voyaging Botanical Assistants 46

Creole Naturalists and Long-Term Residents 51

Armchair Botanists 57

The Search for the Amazons 62

Heroic Narratives 65

2 Bioprospecting 73

Drug Prospecting in the West Indies 75

Biocontact Zones 82

Secrets and Monopolies 90

Drug Prospecting at Home 93

Brokers of International Knowledge 100

3 Exotic Abortifacients 105

Merian’s Peacock Flower 107

Abortion in Europe 113

Abortion in the West Indies 128

Abortion and the Slave Trade 142

4	The Fate of the Peacock Flower in Europe	150
	Animal Testing	153
	Self-Experimentation	156
	Human Subjects	159
	Testing for Sexual Difference	166
	The Complications of Race	171
	Abortifacients	177
5	Linguistic Imperialism	194
	Empire and Naming the Kingdoms of Nature	197
	Naming Conundrums	206
	Exceptions: Quassia and Cinchona	211
	Alternative Naming Practices	219
	Conclusion: Agnotology	226
	Notes	243
	Bibliography	286
	Credits	298
	Index	300