

Contents

Preface	vii
1 Making Room for Character	1
2 Pluralism and the Community of Moral Judgment	29
3 A Cosmopolitan Kingdom of Ends	51
4 Responsibility and Moral Competence	79
5 Can Virtue Be Taught? The Problem of New Moral Facts	106
6 Training to Autonomy: Kant and the Question of Moral Education	130
7 Bootstrapping	154
8 Rethinking Kant's Hedonism	176
9 The Scope of Moral Requirement	203
10 The Will and Its Objects	230
11 Obligatory Ends	254
12 Moral Improvisation	276
13 Contingency in Obligation	300
Credits	332
Index	333

