

Contents

Notes on contributors	vii
Acknowledgements	xiii
Introduction: some reflections in these promising and challenging times Sundari Anitha and Ruth Lewis	1
Section I: The problem
1 A continuum of acceptability: understanding young people's views on gender based violence Vanita Sundaram	23
2 'Lad culture' and sexual violence against students Alison Phipps	41
Section II: Histories and politics of educational interventions against gender based violence in international contexts
3 Sexual violence on US college campuses: history and challenges Renate Klein	63
4 Grounds for concern: an Australian perspective on responses to sexual assault and harassment in university settings Andrea Durbach and Rosemary Grey	83
5 Preventing gender based violence in UK universities: the policy context Anni Donaldson, Melanie McCarry and Aimee McCullough	105
Section III: Challenges and interventions in the UK
6 Student feminist activism to challenge gender based violence Ruth Lewis and Susan Marine	129
7 Using the law to challenge gender based violence in university communities Louise Whitfield	149
8 The Intervention Initiative : theoretical underpinnings, development and implementation Rachel A. Fenton and Helen L. Mott	169

9	Understanding student responses to gender based violence on campus: negotiation, reinscription and resistance Ana Jordan, Sundari Anitha, Jill Jameson and Zowie Davy	189
10	Tackling gender based violence in university communities: a practitioner perspective Ellie Hutchinson	211
	Conclusion: setting the agenda for challenging gender based violence in universities Ruth Lewis and Sundari Anitha	229
	Index	241