

Contents

List of figures and tables	vii
Notes on contributors	ix
Acknowledgements	xvii
1 Introduction: social work and the making of social policy Ute Klammer, Simone Leiber and Sigrid Leitner	1
Part I: Social work, problem definition and agenda setting
2 Social work as policy innovator: challenges and possibilities in the UK Roger Smith	21
3 Social work, problem definition and policy change in the US: the case of sex-trafficked youth Lisa Werkmeister Rozas, Megan Feely and Jason Ostrander	37
4 The voices of Italian social workers: from a pilot anti-poverty intervention to a national policy Matteo D'Emilione, Giovannina Assunta Giuliano, Paolo Raciti and Paloma Vivaldi Vera	53
Part II: Social work interests in policy formulation and decision making
5 Social reform in the US: lessons from the Progressive Era Francisco Branco	71
6 Social work academia and social policy in Israel: on the role of social work academics in the policy process Idit Weiss-Gal and John Gal	89
7 Social workers' collective policy practice in times of austerity: Italy and Spain compared Riccardo Guidi	105
8 Social policy and welfare movements 'from below': the Social Work Action Network (SWAN) in the UK Rich Moth and Michael Lavalette	121
Part III: Social work and implementation
9 Policy work and the ethics of obedience and resistance: perspectives from Britain and beyond Tony Evans	139

10	Systemic barriers to effective implementation of child protection reform in Israel Ravit Alfandari	155
11	Social workers implementing social assistance in Spain: reshaping poverty in a familialistic welfare state Sergio Sánchez Castiñeira	169
12	Layering, social risks and manufactured uncertainties in social work in Poland Paweł Poławski	185
13	'A little more humanity': placement officers in Germany between social work and social policy Markus Gottwald and Frank Sowa	201
14	Conclusion: social work and the making of social policy – lessons learned Ute Klammer, Simone Leiber and Sigrid Leitner	217
	Index	229