A big thank you to everyone at Policy Press (especially Catherine Gray and Alison Shaw for proposing this book and helping to develop its focus and contribution). Depending on how you count it (edited collections, series editing, multiple editions etc), this is my 20th book with Policy Press – and every single one has been a privilege! I'm also really grateful to colleagues at the University of Birmingham's Health Services Management Centre and Department of Social Work and Social Care, who have helped me with advice, ideas and resources.
