

Contents

List of figures	ix
Notes on contributors	x
Introduction	1
Emilio José Gómez-Ciriano, Elena Cabiati and Sofia Dedotsi
1	The contribution of social work research to promote migration and asylum policies in Europe Emilio José Gómez-Ciriano 5
2	Participatory art in social work: from humanitarianism to humanisation of people on the move Darja Zaviršek 25
3	Grasping at straws: social work in reception and identification centres in Greece Marina Rota, Océane Uzureau, Malte Behrendt, Sarah Adeyinka, Ine Lietaert and Ilse Derluyn 47
4	Migrant girls' experiences of integration and social care in Sweden Elin Ekström 64
5	"Come to my house!": Homing practices of children in Swiss asylum camps Clara Bombach 80
6	Transnational dynamics of family reunification: reassembling social work with refugees in Belgium Pascal Debruyne, Kaat Van Acker, Dirk Geldof and Mieke Schrooten 95
7	Open or closed doors? Accessibility of Italian social work organisations towards ethnic minorities Elena Cabiati 112
8	Refugee children and families in the Republic of Ireland: the response of social work Muireann Ní Raghallaigh 126
9	Sense of place, migrant integration and social work Susan Levy and Maura Daly 146

10	"If not now, when?": Reclaiming activism into social work education – the case of an intercultural student-academic project with refugees in the UK and Greece Sofia Dedotsi and Ruth Hamilton	161
11	EU border migration policy and unaccompanied refugee minors in Greece: the example of Lesbos and Samos hotspots Marina Rota, Ine Lietaert and Ilse Derluyn	177
	Epilogue: Time to listen, time to learn, time to challenge ... because there is hope Emilio José Gómez-Ciriano, Elena Cabiati and Sofia Dedotsi	198
	Index	201