

List of figures and tables

Figures

2.1	Resources-needs cascade: dependencies between ecological limits and sufficientarian conceptions of human well-being	27
3.1	Paradigms in social policy research over three periods of the Western welfare states	40
8.1	Overall share of references to the EJ dimensions	116
8.2	References to EJ in the three EP debates by political groups	117
9.1	Policy response patterns by attitudinal predisposition and socio-economic status, Germany	129
9.2	Policy response patterns by attitudinal predisposition and socio-economic status, Italy	130
10.1	Collection of mechanisms linking public participation to eco-social policies	142
13.1	Food system doughnut	182
15.1	Stages of public procurement process	213
17.1	Just transition policies in the EU	250

Tables

4.1	Phases of Western welfare state development	57
7.1	List and description of interviewees	97
8.1	Coding scheme and examples	115
14.1	Country profiles	200
14.2	Characteristics of poor households experiencing energy poverty	201
14.3	Current ecological, social and eco-social policies to address energy poverty in Denmark	202
14.4	Current ecological, social and eco-social policies to address energy poverty in Ireland	205
15.1	General government procurement spending (as share of GDP and by function as a percentage of total procurement spending, 2021)	216
15.2	Conceptualisation of trade-offs and synergies in green and social procurement	220
17.1	EU member states' just transition policies (by component)	245
20.1	Average annual share of full-time workers working 49 hours or more in the UK, Germany and Sweden 2012–19	289
21.1	Just transition approaches of the ILO and IMF	304