

Contents

List of figures, tables and boxes	v
Notes on contributors	vi
1 Introduction Aimee Grant and Helen Kara	1
PART I Understanding the past
2 Documentary theatre as participatory social research Katarzyna Niziołek	11
3 Music and sound in documents: a case study of music and asylum history Rosemary Golding	25
4 Folklore in Asian martial arts: using documents to test the theory of martial creation George Jennings	39
PART II Exploring the machinery of governance
5 Using government inquiry documents in research to raise voices suppressed by non-disclosure agreements Victoria Pagan	55
6 Investigating identity documents through historical ethnography José Ragas	69
7 From public document to engaging experiences: arts-based research and knowledge translation Abigail Winter, Sarah Johnstone, Jen Seevinck, T.J. Thomson and Evonne Miller	82
PART III Using official documents
8 Reflections on using charity annual reporting data to consider questions of representation Helen Abnett	101
9 Unequal bureaucracies in practice: analysing documents using Institutional Ethnography Órla Meadhbh Murray	115
10 Using documents in research during periods of conflict and political turbulence Anna J. Davis	129

PART IV Exploring the personal
11	Impactful inquiry: how insider knowledge enhances the real-world relevance of research with documents	145
	Ella Houston
12	The social conditions of possibility: reading medical records as documents of practice	159
	Max Edward Perry
13	Curating COVID-19: creating an illustrated digital archive with diary and interview research data	175
	Kate Carruthers Thomas
14	Conclusion	188
	Helen Kara and Aimee Grant
	Bibliography	192
	Index	213