

Notes on the Author

Helena Hof is Senior Research and Teaching Fellow at University of Zurich/Max Planck Institute for the Study of Religious and Ethnic Diversity. Her research interests include socio-cultural change and the labour market in Japan and Singapore, international migration, gender, global cities, and startups and entrepreneurial ecosystems. Her recent publications include 'EU migrant retention and the temporalities of migrant staying: A new conceptual framework' (2021, with Simon Pemberton and Emilia Pietka-Nykaza), 'When “global talents” struggle to become local workers: The new face of skilled migration to corporate Japan' (2021, with Yen-Fen Tseng) and 'Intersections of race and skills in European migration to Asia: Between white cultural capital and “passive whiteness”' (2020).