

Contents

Acknowledgments / vii

Introduction: Framing Criminal Accusation / 1
George Pavlich and Matthew P. Unger

Part 1: Framing Accusation – Logic, Ritual, and Grammar

- 1 Apparatuses of Criminal Accusation / 21
George Pavlich
- 2 Declining Accusation / 44
Mark Antaki

Part 2: Genealogies, Colonial Legalities, and Criminal Accusations

- 3 Criminal Accusation as Colonial Rule: The Case of Gurdit Singh (1859–1954) / 73
Renisa Mawani
- 4 Codification and the Colonies: Who's Accusing Whom? / 100
Keally McBride

Part 3: Criminal Accusation as Discourse – Subjectivization, Truth, Ethics

- 5 Guilty without Accusation: Legal Passions and the Misinterpellation of Subjects in Althusser and Kafka / 131
James Martel
 - 6 Accusation in the Absence of Crisis: The Banality of Evil,
Responsibility, and the Tragedy of Adjudication / 152
Jennifer L. Culbert
 - 7 The Forgetfulness of Accusation / 173
Matthew P. Unger
- Contributors / 197
- Index / 200