

Contents

Preface / ix

Acknowledgments / xv

Acronyms / xvii

Part 1: Global and Historical Perspective

- 1 Global Industrial Transformation, Resource Peripheries, and the Canadian Model / 3
- 2 Life on the Geographic Margin: The Evolution of British Columbia's Forest Economy from the 1880s to the 1970s / 35
- 3 Booms, Busts, and Forest Reregulation in an Age of Flexibility / 65

Part 2: The Anatomy of Change

- 4 MacMillan Bloedel: Corporate Restructuring and the Search for Flexible Mass Production / 107
- 5 Foreign Direct Investment: Help or Hindrance? / 148
- 6 Small Firms: Towards Flexible Specialization in BC's Forest Economy / 185
- 7 Trade Patterns and Conflicts: Continentalism Challenged by the Pacific / 219
- 8 Employment and the Contested Shift to Flexibility / 255
- 9 The Diversification of Forest-Based Communities: Local Development as an Unruly Process / 288
- 10 Environmentalism and the Reregulation of British Columbia's Forests / 321
- 11 The BC Forest-Product Innovation System and the (Frustrating) Search for a Knowledge-Based Culture / 356
- 12 The BC Forest Economy as a Local Model / 389

References / 405

Index / 421