

Acknowledgments

Thank you to Randy Schmidt, Ann Macklem, Lesley Erickson, and the staff and board of UBC Press for their ongoing support of this book. My thanks to the two peer reviewers who provided thoughtful feedback and helped to improve the work.

Many thanks to my mentors, Amanda Glasbeek and Amber Gazso, who helped shape this work from the beginning. Their guidance and mentorship have been invaluable. Joanna Birenbaum, a civil litigator and sexual assault law expert, has supported my advocacy work and my academic endeavours since the day I first met her in 2015. Joanna's expertise in sexual assault law was foundational for this project. I would also like to acknowledge Rita Henderson, a fabulous mentor who ensured that I was able to finish this book during my appointment at the University of Calgary.

Thank you to my fantastic lawyers at JFK Law who are currently representing me in my own defamation legal battle. Thank you to Karey Brooks, Aria Laskin, and Laura Edwards for your advocacy.

I'm grateful to have a supportive community who helped me grow as a writer, researcher, and advocate. Thank you, Amanda Hardman, Amrit Dhillon, Annelies Cooper, Caralea Cole, Caitlin Janzen, Chelsey Rhodes, Farzana Doctor, Glynnis Kirchmeier, Farrah Khan, Heather Bristow, Jessica Evans, Kelly Showker, Kristen Bos, Laura Pin, Mylene Inocencio, Nilum Panesar, Nora Currie, Sabrina Scott, Sarah Benson, Tamera Burnett, and Tobin LeBlanc Haley.

I am so grateful to all the silence breakers who shared many of their worst life experiences with me. I am honoured that you trusted me to tell your stories. Thank you to the anonymous silence breakers who spoke with me as well as Bonnie Robichaud, Constance Backhouse, Julie S. Lalonde, Julie Macfarlane, and Senator Marilou McPhedran.

Finally, thank you to my family for always supporting my academic endeavours.

This page intentionally left blank