

Contents

	Preface	vii
	Introduction	i
1	Food adulteration and the rise of the food chemist	16
2	The wonder of coal tar dyes	30
3	From dye manufacturer to food manufacturer	56
4	The struggle to devise tests to detect dyes and assess their toxicity	82
5	The appointment of public food analysts in Britain	117
6	How British food chemists responded to the use of coal tar dyes	136
7	French and German chemists seek to arbitrate the use of synthetic chemicals in food	157
8	The US government acts against chemical dyes in food	173
	Conclusion	184

Acknowledgments	201
Notes	203
Bibliography	237
Index	275