

ILLUSTRATIONS

- I.1 Aerial view of Fushun's Western open-pit mine / 2
- I.2 Major coal mines and railway lines in East Asia, ca. 1935 / 20
- 1.1 "Picture map of Mukden's famous sites: Including Fushun's famous sites" / 31
- 1.2 Inside a dormitory for Chinese workers at the Wandawu mine / 58
- 1.3 Mantetsu employee residences in Yongantai / 60
- 1.4 The Fushun Colliery Club / 61
- 2.1 "The Grand Sight of the Open Working, Fushun Colliery" / 71
- 2.2 "Before" and "after" photographs of the Qianjinzhai mine's eastern pit / 74
- 2.3 Miners in a subsurface working at the Yangbaipu mine / 76
- 2.4 "The Skip-Machine of the Open-Air Coal-Mine, Fushun" / 86
- 2.5 Inside the Ōyama mine's coal dressing plant / 89
- 2.6 Bucyrus electric shovel at the open-pit mine / 103
- 3.1 Women, children, and men loading coal by relay onto a ship in the port of Nagasaki / 119
- 3.2 Osaka, "Manchester of the Orient" and "Capital of Smoke" / 139
- 3.3 Cross-sectional diagram of the open-pit mine / 145
- 3.4 Fushun's shale oil enterprise from pilot plant to finished facility / 148
- 4.1 The Longfeng mine's winding tower / 179
- 4.2 Excerpt from "Map of China's anti-Japanese war zones and network of resources and transportation lines" / 188
- 5.1 Coal yard by the British Cigarette Company buildings along the Huangpu River, Shanghai / 212
- 5.2 The Tianfu colliery, near the Nationalist government's wartime capital of Chongqing / 230

x / Illustrations

- 5.3 Nationalist officials hosting a dinner for Edwin Pauley and the rest of the American reparations mission during their visit to Fushun / 240
- 5.4 Fushun's main power plant after Soviet troops looted its generators / 241
- 6.1 "Coal Is the Grain of Industry" / 271
- 6.2 "Chairman Mao Inspects Fushun" / 293
- E.1 The Fushun Coal Mine Museum with a bronze statue of Mao Zedong in front of it / 298