

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

BIOLOGICAL CHEMISTRY is developing so rapidly that even the textbooks do not achieve a synthesis of the field but merely compile the emerging facts. I therefore appealed to several experts for help to weed out errors from this attempt at a synthesis. I list these friends and colleagues not to hide behind them if errors should be pointed out, but to thank them: Doctors Aaron Friedman, Abraham Mazur, Stanley Miller, and Stephen Zamenhof.

I am particularly indebted to my associate Miss Ann Ryan for library and editorial assistance. My colleague Miss Harriet E. Phillips designed the dust jacket.

The photographs in Chapter 14 are reprinted with the kind permission of Dr. M. F. Perutz, F.R.S., and Dr. Sydney Brenner, both of Cambridge University.
