

CONTENTS

Preface ix
Acknowledgments xv
Abbreviations xix

Introduction 1

Dewey and the Problem of Intellectual Retrieval 1
Avoiding the Criticism: Dewey's Darwinian Enlightenment 3
Redirection: Religious Certainty and the Quest for Meaning 6
The Plan of This Book 13

PART I • FROM CERTAINTY TO CONTINGENCY • 25

1 • Protestant Self-Assertion and Spiritual Sickness 27

Dewey's Evasion of Protestant Self-Assertion and Spiritual Sickness 27
Darwin, Science, and the Moral Economy of Self and Society 31
Hodge and the Problem of Human Agency in the Wake of Evolution 35
Reconciliation and the Quest for Certainty 41
Dewey and the Meaningfulness of Modern Life 47

2 • Agency and Inquiry After Darwin 59

Inquiry and Phronēsis: Dewey's Modified Aristotelianism 62
Theory, Practice, and the Quest for Certainty 67
The Experience of Living: Action and the Primacy of Contingency 74
Contingency and the Place of Intelligent Action 88

VIII • CONTENTS

PART II • RELIGION, THE MORAL LIFE, AND DEMOCRACY • 105

3 • Faith and Democratic Piety 107

Democratic Self-Reliance: Emerson, Dewey, and Niebuhr 110

Reading A Common Faith 125

4 • Within the Space of Moral Reflection 145

The Moral Life and the Place of Conflict 148

The Expanded Self: Deliberation, Imagination, and Sympathy 170

The Tragic Self: Deliberation and Conflict 183

5 • Constraining Elites and Managing Power 191

The Danger of Political Pessimism: Between Lippmann and Wolin 196

Employing and Legitimizing Power 208

The Permanence of Contingency: On the Precarious and Stable Public 225

Epilogue 237

Notes 245

Bibliography 297

Index 319