

CONTENTS

Acknowledgements vii

Preface ix

Introduction: The Fragment and the Infinite, or, the Hypothesis of the Third Term in the Cinema of Alexander Sokurov 1

1 Lonely Voice of Man: Singular Murmurs, Multiple Echoes 26

2 Mournful Insensitivity: The Apocalypse of the Modern 46

3 Days of the Eclipse: 'Adieu, Babylone'; Adieu, Tarkovsky 59

4 Save and Protect: Of Angels and Flies 80

5 The Second Circle: Winter, Light, and the Intimate Sublime 88

6 The Stone: No Way Home 112

7 Whispering Pages: Death, Nothingness, Memory 119

8 Mother and Son: Time Abolished, Time Transfigured 126

9 Moloch: Adi (and Eve): Fear Eats the Soul 139

10 Taurus: 'Father, where art thou?' 156

11 Russian Ark: Imperial Elegy 165

12 Father and Son: Beyond Absolute Intimacy 185

13 The Sun: Iconoclastic Humanism 218

14 Alexandra: The Return to Neverwas and the Ambiguity of Romance 233

15 Faust: Sokurov Waltz 250

Postscript On the Poetics of Space in Sokurov's Tetralogy (Moloch/Taurus/
The Sun/Faust) 272

Conclusion 278

Postface 285

Addendum A: interview with Alexander Sokurov, 2005 288

Addendum B: interview with Alexander Sokurov, 2013 301

Filmography 316

Bibliography 323

Index 330

