

This book owes everything to the artists. I have had the pleasure to know a few of them, but many passed on long before I came to this project. Thank you to the artists and their families, along with the curators, museums, historians, critics, collectors, and viewers who give continuing life to Texas art.

Tremendous support came from the Center for the Advancement and Study of Early Texas Art (CASETA), its learned cofounder Bill Reaves, dedicated board, and core members. With appreciation to former caseta director Robert Summers, who first introduced me to Texas modern art. The Institute for Oral History at Baylor University, especially Lois Myers, was a key early supporter. I am grateful for the unerring guidance of Allison Faust. Also at the University of Texas Press, thank you to Robert Devens, Leslie Tingle, Nancy Lavender Bryan, and Lindsay Starr. All errors herein are my own, but the writing was vastly improved by the astute, professional editing of Kip Keller.

For sharing their taste and insights, special gratitude goes to James and Kimel Baker, Scott Barker, Rick Bebermeyer, Lawrence Boettigheimer, Michael Grauer, Lisa Harvell, Mark Kever, Tam Kiehnhoff, Carl McQueary, Gene Owens, George Palmer, Charles Peveto, David Spradling, Richard Stout, Randy Tibbits, and Karl B. Williams.

I was further assisted through the generosity of Claude C. Albritton III, Susan H. Albritton, Judy and Stephen Alton, Seth Alverson, Mary Arno, Pam Arnoult, Charles Attal, Linda Baird, Wendy Hurlock Baker, Melissa Barry, Cynthia Bell, Margaret Blagg, Terrell Blodgett, Devin Borden, Kim Williams Boyd, Sharon and (the late) Jack Boynton, Margery Brinkley, Pat and Dave Bronstein, Amy Cappellazzo, David and (the late) Patricia Cargill, Tammy Carter, Bill and Mark Cheek, Amy Corbin, Elizabeth Culwell-Collins, Jack and Gail Davis, Judy Deaton, David and Beth Dike, Greg Dow, Krishna Dronamraju, Melisa Durkee, Jim Edwards, Genevieve Ellerbee, Clare Elliott, the late Mary Margaret Farabee, the late Kelly Fearing, Sarah G. Forgey, Henri Gadbois, Karin Gilliam, George Grammer, Tom Haggerty, Kiowa

Hammons, Rick Hardin, Paul Hatgil, Sara Hignite, Jana Hill, Dodi Holland, Katie Hooker, Kirk Hopper, Mark O. Howald, Holly Hutzell, Jim D'Imperio, Roula and Vincent Jarrard, Anne Kelly, Patrick Kelly, Raymond B. Kelly III, Geralyn Kever, Veronica Keyes, Tom Kiehnhoff, Liz Kurtulik, David Lackey, Gayle Laurel, Paul Lester, Tara Lewis, Jim Lincoln, Judy Lopez, Darcy Marlow, Kathryn and Morris Matson, John D. Mc-Clanahan, Leila McConnell, Norma McManaway, Ava Jean Mears, Elizabeth C. Moody, Diane Nelson, Beverly Palmer, Nelie Plourde, Karen Rechnitzer Pope, Eric Preusser, Russell Prince, Sam Ratcliffe, Jean Goebel Rather, Linda Reaves, Rick and Nancy Rome, Jason Schoen, Anne W. Shea, Susan Sklar, Charles Smith, Mark L. Smith, James E. Sowell, Sam and Juliana Stevens, Ruth Storms, Warren Stricker, Stella Sullivan, Meredith Sutton, John Swords, Russell Tether, Leslie Thompson, Janet Tyson, Karl Umlauf, Kevin and Cheryl Vogel, Paula Webb, Earl Weed, Gwen Weiner, Otis T. Welch, Ronald Wenner, Ruby White, Erica Wickett, the late Dick Wray, Robert Wray, and Jeff Zilm.

Many thanks to the institutional lenders and their courteous staff, including the Amon Carter Museum of American Art, Andrews Kurth LLP, Archives of American Art, Art Resource, Artists Rights Society, Baltimore Museum of Art, Barry Whistler Gallery, Blanton Museum of Art, Bobbie and John L. Nau Collection, Brooklyn Museum of Art, Cartin Collection, Cynthia Brants Trust, Dallas Museum of Art, Grace Museum, Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum, Jerry Bywaters Special Collection at the Hamon Arts Library of Southern Methodist University, Henry Moore Foundation, Meadows Museum, Menil Collection, Michael Rosenfeld Gallery, Museum of Fine Arts, Houston, Museum of Modern Art, Nasher Sculpture Center, Nora Eccles Harrison Museum of Art, Ogden Museum of Southern Art, Old Jail Art Center, Palm Springs Art Museum, Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum, Philadelphia Museum of Art, Philbrook Museum of Art, Princeton University Library, Ridglea Country Club, Sheldon Museum of Art, Smithsonian American Art Museum, Southern Methodist University, Talley Dunn Gallery, Texas A&M University Press, Texas Woman's University, Umlauf Sculpture Garden Museum, vaga, Washburn Gallery, and Whitney Museum of American Art. To any person or institution I may have inadvertently left out, please accept my apologies.

This book owes much to the invaluable input of Alison de Lima Greene and Francine Carraro, who should know that all shortcomings are solely mine. I was heartened by the unflagging support of Alexandra Phillips during the onerous permissions process. Another outstanding Baylor alumna, Sarah Beth Wilson, researched and wrote the artists' biographies. Finally, I could not have written this book without the steadfast support of Scott J. Robinson, Johnna S. Robinson, Riley Mott, Alberto, and Lee.

