
CONTENTS

Preface	vii
Acknowledgments	xiii
“She Is My Sister” by Niobe	xvii
PART I
The Antebellum Period
1 Free Women of Color	1
“An honest, sober and industrious woman.”
2 Slavery	15
“Our slaves are the happiest . . . human beings on whom the sun shines.”
PART II
Reconstruction and Redemption
3 First Freedom	41
“I belong to myself now.”
4 Resistance	65
“Colored woman sues for damages.”
PART III
Education and Culture
5 Freedmen’s Bureau Schools and Public Schools	85
“Send us teachers.”

6	Higher Education	105
	"Conduct becoming ladies is insisted upon."
7	Culture and Social Life	123
	"If you can sing gospel, you can sing the blues."
PART IV
The New Century
8	Work	155
	"I would not take 'no' for an answer."
9	Clubs and Community Building	185
	"Lifting as we climb."
10	The Fight for Suffrage and against Lynching	207
	"Are you saying that we can't vote because we're Negroes?"
PART V
The Modern Period
11	World War II	227
	"A splendid opportunity for colored women."
12	The Civil Rights Movement	241
	"The fight is on!"
13	Breaking the Glass Ceiling	261
	"This is our time."
	"Prelude to Ashe" by Hermine Pinson	291
	Appendix 1
	Educators	293
	Appendix 2
	Officeholders	297
	Notes	301
	Selected Bibliography	355
	Photo Credits	371
	Index	378