

Contributors

Judi Atkins is Research Fellow in British Politics at the University of Leeds, and the author of Justifying New Labour Policy (Palgrave Macmillan, 2011).

Hilary Benn is the Member of Parliament for Leeds Central and a leading figure in Labour Party politics. He served in the Cabinet as Secretary of State for International Development (2003–7) and Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs (2007–10). He is currently Shadow Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government.

Mark Bennister is Senior Lecturer in Politics at Canterbury Christ Church University, and specialises in the study of political leadership. He is the author of Prime Ministers in Power: Political Leadership in Britain and Australia (Palgrave Macmillan, 2012).

Andrew S. Crines is a teaching fellow in British Politics at Liverpool Hope University, and specialises in the study of political communication. He has published in leading academic journals such as British Politics, Political Quarterly, Representation and Politics. He is also the author of Michael Foot and the Labour Leadership (Cambridge Scholars Publishing, 2011). He tweets at @AndrewCrines.

Mark Garnett is Senior Lecturer in Politics at Lancaster University. Amongst numerous other publications he has authored acclaimed biographies including Keith Joseph: A Life (Acumen Press); Splendid! Splendid! The Authorised Biography of Willie Whitelaw (Jonathan Cape); and Alport: A Study in Loyalty (Acumen Press).

Richard Hayton is Lecturer in Politics at the University of Leeds, and the author of Reconstructing Conservatism? The Conservative Party in Opposition, 1997–2010 (Manchester University Press, 2012). He tweets at @Richard_Hayton.

Timothy Heppell is Associate Professor of British Politics at the University of Leeds and the sole author of four books including, most recently, Choosing the Labour Leader: Labour Party Leadership Elections from Wilson to Brown (I.B. Tauris, 2010).

Michael Hill is a tutor in British Politics at the University of Leeds. He has published in leading academic journals including British Politics, Political Quarterly and Political Studies Review.

Keith Laybourn is a leading authority on British Labour history. He has published more than 70 journal articles and is the author or editor of more than 40 books including A Century of Labour: A History of the Labour Party 1900–2000. He is a Fellow of the Royal Historical Society and Honorary Fellow of the Historical Association.

Thomas McMeeking is a PhD student in the School of Politics and International Studies at the University of Leeds.

Stephen Meredith is Principal Lecturer and Subject Leader for Politics at the University of Central Lancashire. He is the author of Labours Old and New: The Parliamentary Right of the British Labour Party 1970–79 and the Roots of New Labour (Manchester University Press, 2008).

David S. Moon is Lecturer in Politics at the University of Bath.

Robin Pettitt is Senior Lecturer in Comparative Politics at Kingston University, London.

David Stewart is Course Leader and Lecturer in History at the University of Central Lancashire. He is the author of The Path to Devolution and Change: A Political History of Scotland under Margaret Thatcher, 1979–1990 (I.B. Tauris, 2009).