

Preface

This project would not have been possible without the help and support of a number of people. First I must thank the various interviewees who agreed to speak to me, many of whom spoke about their role in the response to the genocide for the first time. Some of the interviewees are named throughout the book, others preferred to remain anonymous. Secondly, thank you to the various government officials who responded to my very many Freedom of Information requests; their assistance was definitely beyond what I expected. Thirdly, I must thank Professor Sylvia Ellis and Professor Matt Baillie Smith for their guidance and support. Finally and most importantly, thank you to my family who have supported me throughout.
