

Contents

List of figures	viii
Acknowledgements	ix
Introduction: On Anglo-Saxon things	1
1    Æschere's head, Grendel's mother and the sword that isn't a sword: Unreadable things in Beowulf	34
2    The 'thingness' of time in the Old English riddles of the Exeter Book and Aldhelm's Latin enigmata	59
3    The riddles of the Franks Casket: Enigmas, agency and assemblage	98
4    Assembling and reshaping Christianity in the Lives of St Cuthbert and Lindisfarne Gospels	139
5 The Dream of the Rood and the Ruthwell monument: Fragility, brokenness and failure	175
Afterword: Old things with new things to say	216
Bibliography	221
Index	233