This edited volume originates in ‘Cinema and History: The Sixth Forum for Iberian Studies’ held at the University of Oxford in May 2001, when we the editors first met and shared our enthusiasm for the samba and cante jondo as the subjects of our respective doctoral theses. Ten years later we are proud and grateful to have been able to channel the reciprocal passion and commitment of our collaborators into this book. Our thanks to them all.

Thanks are also due Matthew Frost and the illustrious team at Manchester University Press, whose support and guidance have been invaluable.

We would also like to extend our personal gratitude to those who contributed to the book in otherwise uncredited ways. Thanks, in particular, to Esther Santamaría Iglesias, Leonardo Barbosa Anesio, João Luiz Vieira, and Elena Boschi.
