

Contents

List of figures and tables	ix
List of contributors	x
Preface Ardis Butterfield	xiv
Acknowledgements	xxi

Introduction: literatures of the Hundred Years War	1
Daniel Davies and R. D. Perry

I Genres of war

1 Infinite tragedy and the Hundred Years War	31
Andrew Galloway
2 Forms against war: the pastourelle and the Hundred Years War	56
Elizaveta Strakhov
3 Prophecies of alliance and enmity: England, Scotland, and France in the late Middle Ages	78
Daniel Davies

II Figures and sites of mobility

4 Italy, poetry and the Hundred Years War	105
David Wallace
5 Merchandising peace	127
Lynn Staley

- 6 Mobility and migration: Calais and the Welsh imagination in the late Middle Ages 145
Helen Fulton

III Theorising war

- 7 The shared wound: Crusade and the origins of the Hundred Years War in the writings of Philippe de Mézières 171
Stefan Vander Elst
- 8 Mirrors of war: chronicle narratives, class conflict
and regiminal ideology between France and England,
c.1330–1415 188
Matthew Giancarlo
- 9 Dreaming the (un)divided nation: Alain Chartier's
allegorical oneiropolitics 212
Lucas Wood

IV Lives during wartime

- 10 War, tears, and corporeal response in Christine de Pizan 241
Alani Hicks-Bartlett
- 11 Visionary women, the Papal Schism and the Hundred Years War: Bridget of Sweden and Catherine of Siena in medieval England 272
Jennifer N. Brown
- 12 Between men: French books and male readers in fifteenth-century England 303
J. R. Mattison

- Bibliography 330
Index 378