

CONTENTS

Acknowledgements	VII
List of figures and plates	XI
Bibliographic abbreviations	XIX
Foreword by David Stronach	XXI
Introduction	3
I Persepolis: A survey of the site, its chronology and function	9
The name	9
The city	10
The constructions on the Terrace	16
The constructions outside the Terrace	26
Problems of chronology	41
The architectural history	49
Function and other related problems	51
II Persepolis in Flames	57
Textual evidence	57
Archaeological evidence	60
The burning of Persepolis: Facts, interpretations, and speculations	63
Subsequent destructions of Persepolis	70
III From Parsa to Sad-Sotun: The Afterlife of Persepolis Begins	73
Persepolis in the “dark age” of Fars	73
IV Takht-e Jamshid: The Transformation of a Historical Site into a Mythical Symbol	83
V In search of Persepolis: Western travellers’ explorations in Persia	95
Early journeys to the ruins of Chelmenar	95
The travellers of the Enlightenment	101
VI Persepolis and the puzzle of the cuneiform inscriptions	113
The query about the inscriptions at Chelmenar: Chardin and the Royal Society of England	113
Niebuhr’s copies in Europe	117
Grotefend and the decipherment of the Persepolitan scripts	120
VII The Nineteenth century and the emergence of archaeology	123
The hunt for knowledge and antiquities: British diplomats in quest of sculptures	123
Ker Porter, the romantic traveller	127
Other travellers’ explorations of Persepolis in early Qajar Iran	131
Illustrating Persepolis	133

	Photographing Persepolis	137
	Curzon and the first modern description of the ruins	146
	Weld-Blundell's exploration	149
VIII	Persepolis at the Dawn of Scientific Archaeology in Iran	155
	Early steps in the archaeology of Iran: An overview	155
	Persepolis in the early twentieth century	156
	Erich Schmidt and the excavations at Persepolis (1935-1939)	184
IX	Forty Years of Research and Restoration at Takht-e Jamshid: 1939-1979	193
	Krefter and the model of Persepolis	199
	Italian Restoration work and other surface studies at Persepolis 1964-1978	202
	Tadjvidi and the excavation of the City of Parsa	206
	Afterword	215
	Bibliography	221
	Index	233
	Plates	239