

Table of Contents

Acknowledgements.	v
Abbreviations.	vii
Introduction.	1
 Chapter One: Methodology and Approach.	 6
1.1 Matthew and the Old Testament.	6
1.2 Understanding the Old Testament in Matthew.	23
1.3 Limitations and Focus.	32
1.4 Summary.	37
 Chapter Two: The Circulation and Use of Deuteronomy in Ancient Judaism and Christianity.	 39
2.1 Text of Deuteronomy.	40
2.2 Use of Deuteronomy: Jewish Literature.	50
2.3 Use of Deuteronomy: Christian Literature.	74
2.4 Summary and Conclusions.	86
 Chapter Three: Sonship and Obedience in Deuteronomy.	 88
3.1 The Importance of Deuteronomy.	88
3.2 Exegesis of Deuteronomy.	98
3.3 Filial Themes.	113
3.4 Summary and Conclusions.	116
 Chapter Four: Sonship and Obedience in Ancient Jewish and Christian Literature.	 118
4.1 Sonship and Obedience: Old Testament.	119
4.2 Sonship and Obedience: Later Jewish Literature.	136
4.3 Sonship and Obedience: Early Christian Literature.	151
4.4 Summary and Conclusions.	156
 Chapter Five: Deuteronomic Sonship in Matthew, Part 1: Strong and Likely Allusions.	 158
5.1 Strong Allusion(s): Matthew 4:1–11.	159
5.2 Likely Allusions.	166

5.3	Summary.	180
Chapter Six: Deuteronomic Sonship in Matthew, Part 2:
	Significant Possibilities (Matthew 3, 17).	181
6.1	Matthew 3.15–17.	181
6.2	Matthew 17.1–21.	201
6.3	Summary: Matthew 3, 17.	208
Chapter Seven: Deuteronomic Sonship in Matthew, Part 3:
	Possible Allusions.	209
7.1	Matthew 1.20.	209
7.2	Matthew 12.46–50.	213
7.3	Matthew 21.28–22.14.	215
7.4	Comprehensive Summary and Conclusions.	223
Chapter Eight: Conclusions.
8.1	Summary and Implications: Chapters 1–4.	225
8.2	Summary and Implications: Chapters 5–7.	227
8.3	Suggestions for Further Study.	228
8.4	Concluding Synthesis.	229
Bibliography.		231
Index of Biblical and Ancient References.		265
Index of Modern Authors.		279